1. What is your fondest memory of your time at Foothills?

There isn't one event that sticks in my mind but more the cumulative weight of many acts over the years that speak to the commitment to excellence in the care of patients found among medical and non-medical staff.

2. Of all your contributions at Foothills, what are you proudest of?

That would be the establishment of specialized geriatric services at Foothills. This was initially the geriatric consultation service offered throughout the hospital and the geriatric assessment unit on unit 32.

3. What advice would the "you of today" give the younger version of yourself at the start of your practicing career?

I'd have two bits of advice. First, while the tactics of good medical care change the principles don't. And second, a medical career is a marathon, not a sprint. You have to prepare yourself for that.
